

Sustainable Breakfast Series: Wellness & the Built Environment

Panelist Bio

Panelist: Bill Fedun,
Director Of Facilities at
CUNA Mutual Group

As a workplace designer, Bill has worked with many large corporate clients during his career, and his experience in challenging clients to rethink about their work space is integral to his design process and permeates discussions. Educating clients about possibilities to adapt their working environment to increase productivity as well as talent retention/acquisition is a main driver in why Bill thrives doing workplace design. He knows that how space looks and feels is an important driver to create innovative, yet timeless and functional spaces that will serve client needs today and into their future. Bill's experiences have also allowed him to coordinate with smaller-scale project clients in the professional services industry that each employ several subject matter experts who have varied interests and objectives toward their projects. He ensures that these clients are heard and their needs met with the same importance as any large corporations.
